Attorney General files suit against Bridgeton landfill

St. Louis Business Journal

Republic Services faces a civil suit following months of complaints from residents regarding potential environmental violations at the Bridgeton landfill.

Missouri Attorney General Chris Koster plans to file the suit against Republic Services, the owner of the landfill, Wednesday morning. The head of the Department of Natural Resources asked Koster's office to investigate potential violations at the landfill last week following complaints about horrible odors and an "underground smouldering event" beneath the landfill, KSDK reports.

A Republic Services spokesperson said the site poses no health risks and that the company will work to resolve any issues.
